Issues and challenges

Polynt-Reichhold is a leading provider of chemical composites used in the production of plastics, paints, inks and adhesives as well as electrical and electronic materials and components. The 2017 merger with U.S. chemical company Reichhold led to the need for a new global network that would fully support the rapidly growing business.

Innovation is at the heart of the company's success, and the merger of Polynt and the Reichhold Group created many new opportunities for growth. However, innovation relies on the rapid exchange of ideas and insights among people often working in different parts of the world. To accelerate and enhance collaboration across the highly distributed organization, a new, single communications network was needed.

The objective

Improve network performance of the newly merged businesses, enhance communication and drive innovation.
