Orange Business Services scores “Positive” rating in managed security services report global, highly-reliable Orange network supports comprehensive security services portfolio

Orange Business Services was recently rated “Positive” in the “MarketScope for Managed Security Services in Europe”¹ report published by Gartner, Inc.

Orange Business Services believes Gartner’s rating indicates it is well-positioned to deliver integrated and managed security solutions with a strong network focus.

“With an increasingly complex regulatory environment, more devices and networks, new ways of working (BYOD, etc.), and cloud computing environments, enterprises are facing segmented and complex security challenges,” said Nicolas Furgé, head of Security Business Unit, Orange Business Services. “We feel this Gartner rating recognizes that Orange Business Services is a global managed security services player. In particular, we are pleased that surveyed customers spoke favorably of Orange’s large, regional Internet gateways and the related security features such as connectivity, filtering, proxies, remote access and redundancy.”

a worldwide leader in security services

Considering the exponential increase of both threats and solutions, Orange Business Services is focused on improving visibility and simplicity through a complete range of managed and integrated security solutions and services. Available in 166 countries, managed security services from Orange Business Services are based on three pillars: infrastructure; work environment (tools, access and identities, terminals); and management & governance (security supervision and network monitoring).

With 350 security consultants on five continents and eight Security Operations Centers around the world, Orange Business Services differentiates itself with a strong network culture and experience; tailored services as well as off-the-shelf solutions; and multiple market segment expertise – from SMEs to MNCs. Security services customers are backed by worldwide customer care that is underpinned by a robust delivery factory certification ISO 27001, the international information security management system standard. Security is one of the strategic pillars of Orange Business Services “Conquests 2015” plan.
